FINLAND SEEKS HELP IN WA

HIGHEST COURT RULES AGAINST WIRE-TAPPING

Frees Three New Yorkers Convicted On Evidence Thus Obtained

OTHER DECISIONS UP

Tribunal Expected To Pass On Legality Of Manton Findings

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The supreme court reversed today the conviction of three New Yorkers who contended that evidence obtained by wire-tapping had been improperly admitted at their trial.

Justice Frankfurter delivered the opinion that upset the conviction on a charge of smuggling alcohol into New York.

Justice McReynolds dissented without a written opinion.

Frankfurter said it was "plainly" established that "wire-tapping was unlawfully employed."

The men were Frank Carmine Nardone, Nathan W. Hoffman and Robert Gottfried. Nardone was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and fined $3,000. Hoffman was given two years and fined $2,500. Gottfried was sentenced to a year and a day.

The conviction of Nardone and Gottfried was reversed once by the supreme court on December 20, 1937, on the ground that evidence obtained by intercepting interstate telephone communications had been employed.

They were convicted again at a new trial in the southern New York federal district court and appealed a second time to the supreme court.

They contended the district court had improperly limited an inquiry into the source of government evidence alleged to have been obtained by wire-tapping.

The court may announce today whether it will:

1. Review a test case to determine the right of New York litigants to a new trial because of participation in decisions by Judge Martin Manton.

2. Accept a government petition for reconsideration by a nine-man court of the tribunal's recent 4-to-4 affirmance of Federal District Judge Patrick T. Stone's action in dismissing indictments against 11 defendants in the Madison, Wis., oil anti-trust case. They were found guilty by a jury earlier.

In the litigation involving Judge Manton, it was alleged that he was disqualified from participating because of acceptance of bribes totaling approximately $50,000 over a period of several years.

Since then he has been convicted on a charge of conspiracy to sell judicial favors. He was sentenced to two years in prison and fined $10,000. His conviction recently was affirmed by a circuit court at New York, where he was senior judge for many years.

The litigation involved a patent dispute over cigarette lighters. Reargu-

FINN RECEIVES LONG OVATION

Hjalmar Procope Distinguished Guest At Semi-Annual Grid Dinner

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Distinguished guests at the semi-annual gridiron dinner disclosed today that a prolonged ovation greeted the introduction of the minister of Finland, Hjalmar Procope.

An audience which included high government officials, diplomats of several nations, and business and professional leaders applauded and shouted for several minutes Saturday night when the tall, square-jawed envoy was presented.

President Raymond Clapper referred to the European situation in opening the gridiron show, presented by the newspapermen who belong to the club.

"While democracies in Europe fight to save themselves, Democrats in America decide to save themselves by not fighting," he quipped.

The American neutrality policy was satirized by a group of merchant mariners, singing "We're Gonna Hang Out the Washing on the Three-Mile Line," while washwomen pinned up innocent-looking articles—identified as "airplanes for an unknown destination," "machine guns for the banana

TWO ELDERLY FINNS BLOCK AIR ATTACK

HELSINKI, Dec. 11.—(AP)—A story of how two elderly Finns of a coastal village frustrated a mass bombing attack on Helsinki with the aid of a rusty cannon is being told here.

The two men, members of the civilian defense organization, sighted 15 bombing planes en route to the capital December 1, as the story goes. They ran to the gun and fired at the planes.

The shot missed, but the squadron wheeled about, and a dozen of the planes emptied their bomb racks on the rocky shore where the cannon stood. They had to return to their base. Only three planes went on to Helsinki.

'ROMEO' AND 'JULIET' WIN OUT—SHE'S UNDECIDED

At last New York society's "Romeo" and "Juliet" got another hurried glimpse of each other in a courthouse corridor at Riverhead, L. I., where "Romeo" George Lowther, by virtue of a habeas corpus writ, forced the parents of "Juliet" Eileen Herrick to produce her. Now they are free to marry under a decree of Judge L. Barron Hill who said Eileen could leave home when she wants to but that she was under her parents' control so long as she remained at home and was supported by them. This was the scene when the lovers met in the court house. Left to right: Lowther, Eli Johnson, Lowther's lawyer, Miss Herrick, and a nurse, Mrs. Dorothy Gay. Johnson said the couple will be married within a few days. Miss Herrick has since said she was undecided about marrying Lowther and needs "time to think."

KENNEDY SEES NO REASON FOR WAR FOR U. S.

American Ambassador To Europe Says 'This Is Not Our Fight'

BOSTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassador to Great Britain, is convinced that there is no reason—economic, financial or social—to justify the United States entering the European war.

The Massachusetts-born ambassador declared in an interview yesterday that "if anybody advocates our entering the war, the American public should demand a specific answer to the question 'Why.'"

One of the influences that might result in our involvement, he asserted, was the American people's "sporting spirit" in "not wanting to see an unfair or immoral thing done," but he added "this is not our fight."

Speaking as an individual, Kennedy said he believed candidates for public office should be made to answer "how" they would do the things they advocate in relation to the European situation.

"They don't have to tell us what ought to be done," he added. "We know. Let them tell us just how they would do it."

Declaring it was "anybody's guess" as to the possibility of peace in the near future, the former Boston banker said he believes "all want peace but all have their own ideas as to what peace should be. Under the circumstances, who can say when there will be peace?"

Earlier, Kennedy told parishioners of Our Lady of Assumption church—where he once served as an altar boy—not to let "anything that comes out of any country in the world make you

'CONDEMNED MAN' STILL IS ACTIVE

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Ten months ago, doctors predicted certain death for Claude J. Bradley—death from cancer within three months.

Today, Bradley sat in his wheelchair, his mind on the future—planning his Christmas celebration at his Brooklyn home and the days to come after that.

Still smiling and jovial, the 53-year-old cement salesman explained, "I'm pretty busy these days. I'm sending out lots and lots of Christmas cards. And then I've got to plan for Christmas."

Bradley last July called in a couple hundred of his friends who held a "wake" for him—and Bradley was the life of the party.

"I feel fine," he smiled. "I hope to lick this thing. Yes, sir—"

"How's the world treating me?—Well, not very often—I haven't had a drink in seven months.

"I'm paralyzed, you know—but I feel fine. I get out in the car with a friend of mine, and we ride around and see things, and I do a little business. Sure, I'm keeping up my business. Why not? I don't give up, because I think if I do, I'm done for.

"Well, come around and see me after the first of the year. I'm awful busy now—Christmas and cards and presents—you know."

LABOR BOARD CLASHES SEEN

Crowd Gathers For House Investigating Committee Hearing

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Although one committeeman promised "no circus atmosphere," the prospect of clashes at the initial hearing of the house committee investigating the national labor board drew a crowd toward the capitol today.

Dr. William Leiserson, newest board member who often has disagreed with his colleagues on points of policy, was called as the first witness.

It was understood that the committee, authorized to recommend changes in the Wagner act, had decided first to examine memoranda from Leiserson and the other board members—J. Warren Madden and Edwin S. Smith. The memoranda were described by well-informed sources as representing internecine difficulties.

Leiserson has differed with the other two men not only over personnel but also over the types of representation which the board may order for a certain group of workers and continuance of union-employer relationship of long standing.

The member of the committee who said that "there will be no circus atmosphere," told reporters:

"All the members are going into this hearing with no preconceived ideas about the act or its administra-

AIRPORT DEDICATED

BURAS, La., Dec. 11.—(AP)—The Jerry Schoen airport was dedicated here yesterday. The field has a runway 1,860 feet long and was named after Schoen, a New Orleans aviator, because of his efforts in obtaining a field here. The airport land was donated by Spiro Pavlovich. Speakers at the dedication, attended by a number of planes and about 500 persons, included Congressman J. O. Fernandez and Leander H. Perez, Plaquemines parish district attorney.

OPPOSITION TO U. S. CONTROL OF OIL HEARD

Two Texas Officials Fight Proposed Measure At Orleans Hearing

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Two Texas officials expressed determined opposition to federal control of the nation's oil industry in statements prepared for a hearing by a congressional sub-committee today on a bill proposing such regulation.

The hearing, which will last for several days, is being conducted by a sub-committee of the house interstate commerce committee. Representative William P. Cole, Jr., Democrat, Maryland, heads the group.

The bill, approved by President Roosevelt, has been attacked by officials of most of the large oil producing states.

Representatives of the governors of all the oil-producing southern and southwestern states and of Illinois, California and Nebraska, which have no state laws governing production allowables, were expected to testify at the hearing. Conservation Commissioner Ernest S. Clements of Louisiana is to appear tomorrow.

The Texans who presented objections to the proposed measure today were E. O. Thompson, chairman of the interstate oil compact commission and member of the Texas railroad commission, which regulates the petroleum industry in that state, and Jerry Sadler, railroad commissioner. Lon R. Smith, head of the railroad commission, also was to be heard.

Thompson told the sub-committee the nation could "present you a picture of efficiency that shows no need for any interference on the part of the federal government."

Sadler's statement declared that state proration laws had wisely conserved oil resources, and that "while the bill does not crush nor annihilate private enterprise, it limits and re-

TOMMIES GO INTO ACTION ON FRONTIER

Expeditionary Force Feels War 'Has Begun At Last'

SEVERAL LIVES LOST

Four Members Of Minesweeper's Crew Killed By Blast

LONDON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Great Britain today counted the loss of a minesweeper and five merchant ships while British troops for the first time in the 100-day-old war were reported in action on the western front.

The total shipping losses were more than 27,193 tons.

The minesweeper Ray of Hope struck a mine and sank, officials said. She was the fifth minesweeper lost since the war started. Four of the Ray of Hope's crew were killed, five were missing and three were rescued.

The 4,815-ton British steamer Willowpool also sank after hitting a mine. Her crew of 36 was saved.

Four other merchant ships, an official announcement said, were long overdue and must be considered lost. They were the Axh Lea, 4,222 tons; Newton Beech, 4,651 tons; Trevanion, 5,299 tons; and Huntsman, 8,196 tons.

The four minesweepers previously lost with 50 lives were the Northern Rover, Mastiff, Aragonite and Washington.

The admiralty announcement on the loss of the Ray of Hope did not give her tonnage. She was one of scores of such vessels requisitioned by the navy for minesweeping.

Movement of the tommies into action with the enemy occurred shortly before King George VI visited observation posts and inspected great Maginot line fortresses. The monarch returned from the front last night, on the eve of the third anniversary of his accession to the throne.

It was reported British troops had been on the front line several days,

HATCH WOULD WIDEN LAW TO CURB POLITICS

Proposes Making It Apply To Those Partly Paid By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Senator Hatch, Democrat, New Mexico, proposed today that congress forbid political activities of state employes paid in part with federal funds.

The author of the law which imposes such a ban on most federal employes said his proposal would cover such persons as state highway department employes, social security workers and office-holders in other state agencies to which the federal government contributes money.

Predicting that there would be little opposition to the extension, Hatch pointed out that one of the chief complaints against his original measure was that it took federal officials out of politics without similarly restricting state officers.

The New Mexico senator declared that his law already had had a marked effect, particularly in eliminating politics in relief, and could be expected to become even more effective in the 1940 campaign. Among other things, it prohibits solicitation of campaign funds from relief recipients and

Good Fellow Fund Slumps; Prompt Action Is Needed

Previously acknowledged ..	$126.25
In memory of W. L. "Red" Butler	1.00
Total	$127.25

With but $127.25 as the sum total of the Good Fellows fund and with Christmas exactly two weeks distant, we start the new week with heavy heart. Only one contribution, that of one single dollar, has been added over the week-end. A year ago on this date the fund stood at $328.91, a sum far in excess of what we now have. It was reported to us Monday that in Alexandria, the Good Fellows have already approximately $40 and the fund is growing rapidly. A benefit performance at a theater there is said to have been responsible for a sizable sum having been netted. We need a few of these benefits here.

The single dollar that is reported today was given by a friend of W. L. "Red" Butler, whose early death last month cast a dark shadow of gloom over many in the Twin Cities who admired him for his virility, optimism and promising future.

Youngsters of Monroe and West Monroe can also do their bit for the cause of Good Fellows thereby helping to mitigate the woes of the less fortunate. To this end the Paramount theater will conduct a show for the kiddies next Saturday morning and the admission price will be food—preferably packages of food that are not perishable, but any kind of food. These supplies will be donated to the less fortunate ones of the community.

Anything will be accepted and appreciated—a can of beans, a small sack of sugar, a couple of pounds of flour, potted meat, a can of corn, sardines—just anything that has food value—even a turkey might not be amiss.

Manager Ben Bicknell of the Paramount is arranging a fine program for

SOME ASSERT DEWEY SPEECH DISAPPOINTING

One Calls It 'Five-Year-Old Chamber Of Commerce Talk'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The off-stage Republican reaction to Thomas E. Dewey's opening campaign speech was a little less laudatory than was indicated by the quoted comments.

Yet, even with the discounts some Republicans made, the net result was favorable to Dewey.

Those who said his speech was too general were more than matched by men who applauded the philosophy he expressed and argued that there was plenty of time left for him to be specific. Some said he lacked color; others said he had enough color to paint a house. Many deplored his lack of grey hairs; others insisted that there is no more guarantee that ability will lie under grey hairs than there is that rain will follow the twinge of a rheumatic knee.

Republicans who are in Washington during the week-end spoke very favorably of the speech. Some of those who had not met the young district attorney before came away deeply impressed by his personality and his knowledge of national affairs.

A member of the Republican national executive committee said the general reaction around the committee table was unanimously favorable, that the members thought he had laid the groundwork neatly for his series of campaign speeches.

But out in the middle west where the speech was made and which formed some of the broad rings of the target at which it was aimed, the reaction was less enthusiastic.

That the expressions of some of these farm state Republicans who did not come to Washington could not be used under their names only em-

NOISE CUTS SHORT ADDRESS BY LONG

Governor Earl Long cut short his scheduled address at Chatham, 30 miles west of here, late Saturday night when a barrage of firecrackers interrupted his speech several times, it was reported today.

Ernest Brown, marshal at Chatham, said other speakers on the Long ticket completed their talks but that Governor Long concluded his address after a few brief remarks, and that numerous arguments over the responsibility for the noise ensued. He said there were no fights and that no arrests were made, although a boy was removed from the meeting by state police.

Brown said blame was placed on supporters of another candidate who "came to Chatham from Ouachita parish, chiefly Monroe and West Monroe." Chatham is in Jackson parish, seven miles from the parish line.

The marshal said the meeting was originally scheduled to be held in the Chatham High school gymnasium but was moved outdoors when the gymnasium would not hold the crowd.

5 CANDIDATES HURL CHARGES AT OPPONENTS

Noe Says 'Gambling Syndicate' Organized To Bet Against Him

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The five Louisiana candidates for governor put in a busy week-end attacking each other's qualifications for the job, with economy in government a recurring theme.

State Senator James A. Noe struck a new note by telling his north Louisiana campaign leaders yesterday at Monroe that a "gambling syndicate" has been organized to make bets on the election to harm his candidacy.

Noe said, "The idea is that if they flood the state with so-called smart money and start making wild bets that Earl Long will win, the public will get the idea that Earl is still in the running with me, and a few 'fair weather' friends will desert me. It's a good idea—any year but this one. This campaign is too important to the people."

Governor Long said at Ville Platte that he had stopped "every kind of waste and graft that I could" since taking office.

He said that he stopped the highway commission from paying the full retail price for equipment. "They were buying it for 100 cents on the dollar. I made them stop that, and since then they have been getting 10 to 20 per cent discount on their machinery purchases.

"I have stopped every kind of waste and graft that I could. I stopped the 'deducts.' Heads of departments were buying all their supplies, hundreds of thousands of dollars worth, from themselves. I stopped that. A man working for the penitentiary had a dairy costing $100,000. When I started to investigate him he came in and laid down $500 on his income tax. We found he was $52,000 short, and he has been convicted and part of the money already has been paid back.

"And still the opposition charges that I am pulling my punches and hiding the books to protect a bunch of thieves."

The governor told of plans for building an addition to the tuberculosis sanatorium at Greenwell Springs, near

FREED BOY TELLS KIDNAPING STORY

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Irwin Mingle, 11, has a bangup kidnaping story to tell his classmates.

For 16 hours he lay bound and gagged in the dark attic of an abandoned house, while his worried parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mingle, arranged to meet a $15,000 ransom demand. His cries, after he managed to loosen the gag, brought his rescue.

Dr. W. C. Welch, 52-year-old chiropractor, arrested a few hours after Irwin's release, is charged with the crime, but insists he has been "framed."

Irwin was abducted from his home Thursday night by a nervous gunman who bound his parents, told the father to leave the ransom in Dr. Welch's garage and carried the youth to a car.

Officers did not disclose the kidnaping until Saturday.

RIGHT TO LOOK FOR AID SEEN BY DELEGATE

Appeal Made Before Assembly Of League Of Nations

NAME NORWAY ENVOY

Hambro, Made President Of Assembly, Pleads Neighbor's Cause

GENEVA, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The League of Nations assembly today asked Soviet Russia to accept league mediation in the Russian-Finnish conflict.

It requested a reply within 24 hours.

GENEVA, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Rudolf Holsti, Finland's representative, asked the League of Nations assembly today for "all practical support possible" against Soviet Russia.

"We cannot protect the Finnish people against aggression, bullets, hand grenades and gas with international resolutions," he declared.

(Finnish charges that Russians have used gas in the invasion of Finland have been denied officially in Moscow.)

The white-haired Holsti, former Finnish foreign minister and former Stanford university professor, was applauded heavily by almost all the delegates of 40 nations when he rose to speak.

Almost a third of Holsti's speech was taken up with flinging back quotations from former Russian Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff's speech before the assembly two years ago condemning aggression in an attempt to obtain league aid for the Spanish Republicans.

Slowly and dramatically, the Finnish delegate concluded:

"Gentlemen, do your duty. The Finnish people is doing its duty toward the entire civilized world and it is paying with that most precious thing of all—its own blood."

At the opening session, Karl J. Hambro of Norway, newly elected president of the assembly, told delegates they must do their utmost to halt the Russian-Finnish war.

The new president, however, personally held little hope that the Russians would listen to any appeal to take their troops out of Finland.

A gesture in that direction was the first step, delegates said, to be taken before acting on the Finnish appeal to condemn Russia as an aggressor.

"It is for us to act in order that little people in distress will not be deceived," Hambro said.

As the council session opened, Secretary-General Joseph A. C. Avenol issued a list of 14 documents submitted by the Finns which included the notes between Finland and Russia and a report on the bombardments of Helsinki.

The Russian delegate Jacob Suritz remained in his hotel and received reports of proceedings through his assistants.

"This is the fatal hour," Hambro said when he took the chair from Count Carton De Wiart, Belgian president of the council.

"This assembly is a point of departure for a new hope. We face a very grave moment, and it is the duty of every league member to remain true to its ideals."

Referring to the Finnish appeal against Russia, Hambro added:

"One member of the league is threatened by another member of the league and is defending its right with heroism. The League of Nations was created to keep the peace. We are therefore called upon to prevent what is now happening from proceeding."

De Wiart handed over the chair to the chubby, baldish Norwegian with a brief speech declaring the Belgians' confidence in league ideals.

Eight vice-presidents were chosen. They were the delegates from Belgium, Great Britain, Canada, Egypt, France, Greece, Portugal and Switzerland.

FINLAND PRESSES NATIONS FOR HELP

(By Associated Press)

Pressing other nations for aid, Finland fought invading Russian forces with military and diplomatic weapons today while European warfare cost Britain new naval and merchant shipping losses.

The embattled Finns, reporting they had checked Russia's campaign on all fronts, took their case to the League of Nations, invoking league arbitration machinery and asking that Moscow be condemned as an aggressor.

Heartening to Finland was a $10,000,000 credit from the United States for the purchase of food and other non-military supplies.

Finland's appeal was up for consideration after preliminaries in which the delegate from friendly Norway

Mrs. Edward Lynch, Mrs. William Watson and Miss Marian Post have returned from a visit to New Orleans, where they were guests of the Roosevelt hotel for several days.

Vassar Anderson entertained a party of friends from Columbia, Miss., at his plantation home, "Oscola" on Lake Bruen, for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Magruder Adams had as their week-end guests at "Locust Ridge," their plantation home, their son, Magruder Adams, Jr., John Miller, Preston Barnes, both of Baton Rouge and J. H. Mounger of Lettsworth, La., all L. S. U. students.

Eighteen members, including the new member, Rev. Charles H. Maury, were present at the regular meeting of the Rotary club. Mr. H. L. McKnight of the state department of conservation, Baton Rouge, gave an interesting talk with "Conserving Our Fish and Game" as the topic. The guests were Mr. H. L. McKnight, Mr. Guy Sommers of Shreveport, La., auditor of the Standard Oil company and one other guest. The Presbyterian auxiliary are serving the dinners to the club for December.

The Creeping Man

by Frances Shelley Wees

YESTERDAY: McBain suggests that the love letters in the box may be code, says that Miss Lissey is bitter because Deroe didn't marry her, and denies seeing the gray felt hat. Mrs. McBain saw the hat, looks for it, but can't find it.

Chapter 25

Dark Of The Moon

THE dark figure broke away from the hedge, slowly, cautiously, and crept on all fours for the trees. With a bound, Michael reached it and threw himself upon it, hardly knowing what he expected to find beneath his hands as he peered down in the darkness.

"Yer chokin' me," he heard, and gasped in surprise.

"Higgins!"

"It's me," [illegible] sullenly, [illegible]

"What [illegible] sneaking around in the dark?"

"I wasn't doin' nothink."

"Oh, you weren't? Well, it's a damn poor [illegible] What are you up to?"

"I'm not [illegible] nothink," Higgins was [illegible]

Michael was suddenly angry. He reached out [illegible] Higgins' collar [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] and dig."

"I don't want to dig."

Watch And Chain

[illegible] I'm afraid [illegible]

[illegible]

"Stones first," Michael decided. [illegible]

"I ain't going to stand for this," Higgins growled.

"Of course not. You couldn't reach the stones if you did. You'll bend over nicely and pick them up one by one. Ready."

Higgins was not ready.

Michael straightened up and spoke softly. "You get to work and move those rocks, you little fool, or I'll smash you flat," he said convincingly. Higgins got to work.

In a few minutes they had moved the rocks aside and the hardened earth beneath lay bare.

"Have you a light, Higgins?" Michael demanded.

"No, I aven't."

"So you know exactly where to dig, do you? Well, dig then."

"I don't know what yer talkin' about."

"Do you want to be smashed flat?" Michael asked sweetly.

Higgins was trembling.

"Dig!"

The man bent over and scratched feebly at the earth. Michael bent beside him and watched. Obviously they were getting nowhere. Michael snatched the trowel from Higgins' hand and moved over directly in front of the little break in the hedge that he could feel with his hand. He thrust the trowel deep into the earth just there, and scraped the soil away. He realized that the man beside him was holding his breath, and that he must be on the right track.

In a few seconds, when the trowel had reached a spot perhaps six inches below the surface, he felt it strike on something. Higgins heard it too, and drew in his breath on something that sounded very like a sob.

Michael lifted out a trowel of earth carefully. Higgins made a convulsive movement, and Michael grasped him by the shoulder and forced him down. "I haven't got it yet," he said consolingly.

But the next thrust struck it — something firm and hard, and Michael put his hand down into the hole, not, however, without a moment of dread; and encountered there a smooth flat surface. With a few more strokes of the trowel he laid it bare, seized it, and drew forth a little square box.

"Now, isn't this lucky," he said to Higgins. "We'll just go up on the porch into the light and open it. Do you know what's in it?"

Higgins was shaking. "I don't know nothink about it," he said over and over. "I don't know nothink about it. It wasn't me."

Michael led him up into the sun porch and snapped on the light. The little man was as white as a ghost under his sallow tan. His eyes were wide and full of fear.

Michael lifted the lid of the box. Inside lay a man's gold watch, the [illegible]

He turned it over and on the back were engraven the initials EGM.

'I Never Done It'

HIGGINS put his hands over his face and moaned. "I'll 'ang [illegible]" he said to himself.

[illegible] said Michael [illegible] As [illegible] as Hannah [illegible] listen to me."

"I never [illegible] s'welp me. I [illegible] I don't know nothink [illegible]"

[illegible] into the [illegible] Higgins."

[illegible] him [illegible] licked [illegible]

[illegible] Michael commanded [illegible]

Higgins sat [illegible] on the edge [illegible] "I never done it," he said [illegible]

[illegible]

Higgins stared at him. "I never [illegible] I don't know nothink [illegible]"

"If you say that again," Michael [illegible] choke you [illegible] You know [illegible] You couldn't [illegible] damned [illegible] Now, where did you get this watch?"

[illegible]

"On the path."

"What path?"

[illegible] through the wood. [illegible] truth I'm telling [illegible]

"I believe you. You didn't happen to find a diamond necklace lying right there beside it, did you?"

The shot struck home. Higgins went white again. "No sir," he whispered.

"When did you find it?"

"One mornin'."

[illegible]

[illegible] was [illegible] to have went away."

[illegible]

Higgins was silent.

[illegible]

[illegible] know Murchison."

"How did it come to be lying on the path?"

"I don't know. I've no idea."

"You found a gold watch lying on the path — with initials — and you didn't attempt to return it to the owner? Why didn't you?"

"I didn't [illegible] knowin' as it was Mr. Murchison's watch and he wasn't to 'ome. That's right. So I went away."

"Why didn't you give it to his wife?"

"It wasn't 'is wife as I talked to."

"Who was it?"

Higgins would not answer.

"Well, who was it?"

"Mr. Duncan Murchison."

"What did 'e say?"

"'E didn't say nothink. 'E just said 'is brother wasn't 'ome, what did I want. And I said nothink I didn't want nothink, and I went away. S'welp me. I just went away."

"With the watch? Why didn't you give it to him?"

"I didn't want to."

"Well, that's a good reason. Then what?"

"Nothink."

Michael gritted his teeth. "Look here, Higgins. Stop saying that! Tell me straight. Why didn't you give the watch to Duncan Murchison right there?"

"I didn't want to." Michael glared. Higgins shuffled. "I wasn't going to take no chances," he muttered. "It might 'ave been him. They was fightin' one day before. I 'eard 'em."

"Who was?"

"The two Mr. Murchisons."

"And you thought it might have been Duncan who had murdered his brother? That's what you thought, eh?"

"Yes."

"So you knew that the Professor was dead? How?"

POPE PIUS XII FILLS 2 POSTS

Gathers 24 Cardinals In Consistory To Hear Appointments

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 11—(AP)—Pope Pius XII today filled two of his former posts, naming a camerlengo (chamberlain) of the Holy Roman church and a camerlengo of the Sacred College of Cardinals.

In secret consistory, he named Lorenzo Cardinal Lauri camerlengo of the Holy Roman church, thus providing an interim administrative head of the church during the next interregnum before the election of a new pontiff.

Raffaello Cardinal Rossi became camerlengo of the Sacred College of Cardinals.

The pope gathered 24 cardinals in the consistory to hear his appointments, which included 13 new bishops, and to approve canonization of two saints, blessed Maria Di Santa Eufrasia Pelletier, who founded the Sisters of Good Shepherd, and blessed Gemma Galgani, known as the Virgin of Lucca.

Changes in the United States included the appointment of Monsignor Albert Fletcher as auxiliary bishop of Little Rock, Ark., and the retirement of the Most Rev. Bishop Vincent Wherle of Bismarck, N. D., who became titular bishop of Teos.

The pontiff also conferred the pallium, or woolen scarf of office, on new archbishops, including the Most Rev. Francis J. Spellman, archbishop of New York, and the Most Rev. Joseph Schrembs, archbishop of Cleveland.

Both American archbishops received by proxy their pallia, circular woolen bands with two pendants which only the pope may wear without special permission.

Monsignor Aristodemo Pioli of the consistorial congregation received the pallium in behalf of Archbishop Spellman and Monsignor Joseph Patrick Hurley, attached to the office of the papal secretary of state, received it for Archbishop Schrembs.

Two of the most important titular sees were filled with appointments of Carlo Cardinal Salotti as bishop of Palestrina and of Enrico Cardinal Sibilia as bishop of Sabina, sees formerly occupied by the late Angelo Cardinal Dolci and Donatus Cardinal Starrett.

GENERAL FUQUA WITH NEWSWEEK

Louisiana Friends Learn With Satisfaction Of Position

The friends of the late Governor Fuqua, and the friends and old army comrades of Major General S. Ogden Fuqua, United States army retired, learned with great interest and satisfaction that General Fuqua has been associated with Newsweek, R. K. O. Rockefeller Center, New York, as military editor and commentator. General Fuqua has an article in every issue of Newsweek on he foreign miliary situation.

General Fuqua was a captain in Hood's regiment, 2nd United States Volunteer infantry, which was organized at New Orleans and at Camp Caffrey, Covington, La., from whence it departed for Cuba in July, 1898. The regiment was in Cuba for nearly one year. Its Colonel Duncan C. Hood was the son of the Confederate general John B. Hood. A number of the officers of the regiment, after it was mustered out at Camp Meade near Gettysburg, Pa., in June 1899, continued in the military service of the United States, and were detailed for service in the Philippines. Among these was Captain Fuqua. From that time he remained in the army until recently retired.

Among his old comrades in Hood's regiment in this state are Captain McCoy, practicing law in Lake Charles, La., Captain Frank J. Looney, practicing law in Shreveport; Captain Allan Sholars, practicing law in Monroe; Captain Graham Stafford, practicing law in Alexandria; Adjutant Harry P. Gamble, former assistant attorney general, practicing law in New Orleans. The late Senator Edwin S. Broussard was also a captain from New Iberia. The late Lieutenant Colonel J. E. Morris, United States army, from Monroe, was also a captain in this regiment. He had continued in the service with General Fuqua.

General Fuqua was born and raised in Baton Rouge, La., and attended the University of Louisiana, class of '93, before entering the army. He is a son of the late Colonel James O. Fuqua of the Louisiana bar, and brother of the late Governor Harry L. Fuqua.

General Fuqua entered the military service during the Spanish war, has served in Cuba, Philippines, Mexican border, Hawaii, and in France and Germany during the World war, at which time he was the chief of staff of the First division.

He served as chief of infantry for four years and later went to Spain, where he finished the last six years of his over 40 years' service as the military attache to the American embassy in Spain.

General Fuqua is an honor graduate of the School of the Line and Staff college at Fort Leavenworth, Kans., and of the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga. He is a graduate of the staff college in Langres, France, established during the World war. He has been decorated with medals covering the Cuban pacification, Philippine's insurrection, Spanish American war, World war, and was awarded the Distinguished Service medal for "exceptional and meritorious" services in the World war. He has been awarded by the Republic of France the Croix de Guerre with two palms, and the cross of the Legion of Honor.

POWER PLANT SURVEY ASKED

Citizens' Sub-Committee Asks Employment Of Engineer

Resolutions proposing that the mayor and board of commissioners of Monroe be requested to employ a competent electrical engineer to make a survey of the local power plant and advise officials as to improvements required to put the plant in condition to fill adequately the city's needs were adopted by the citizens' subcommittee Friday at a meeting in the mayor's office.

Members of the sub-committee meeting with Mayor H. H. Benoit, Commissioner C. R. Tidwell and Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez were Fred Millsaps, Sig Masur, Robert Breard, Joe Marx and Murray Hudson.

After a complete discussion of all plans and proposals submitted and a full investigation of the facts concerning improvements of the power plant, the sub-committee decided to take definite steps on the project. Members resolved that upon receipt of the engineer's report the mayor and commissioners should take whatever steps are necessary to finance, execute and put into effect the recommendations submitted. The resolution stipulated that the engineer employed be disconnected with any power company selling electricity or any manufacturing company selling electrical equipment.

Another resolution rejected the proposal of the Louisiana Power and Light company to sell electricity to the city of Monroe.

Resolutions and recommendations of the sub-committee will be presented to the general citizens' committee of 15 men at a meeting at the city hall at 2:3 p.m. Wenesday, Mayor Benoit has announced.

U. S. Reds Are Awake

Quick to respond to Soviet Russia's "peace movement" was the American Communist party, which bluntly and unblinkingly laid the blame for the present Russo-Finnish hostilities between Russia and Finland on Finland's government.

Caught short by the Russo-German non-aggression pact late in August, the American Communists seem to have caught their breath again. This time the pipeline to Moscow wasn't clogged with rust, the explanation was pointed and shouted unstutteringly through the medium of 100,000 printed statements immediately distributed. Said the statement: "The Red army is on the march for peace and socialism and is dealing powerful blows against world imperialism."

With naive effrontery, American Communists painted the Finnish government as "semi-Fascist." They would have you believe Comrade Stalin does not like Fascism; and, therefore, the Finns must submit to a slight political operation. If Finland's regime smacks of Fascism, then the American democracy, by comparison, must be the world's stronghold of totalitarianism.

What is more desolate than for Christmas day to come and go without some sort of remembrances from those we love the best? Yet this happens every year to tens of thousands all unwittingly on the part of those who have carefully planned to make it a day of joy to relatives and friends in distant places.

If you hope to give Christmas happiness to same loved one at a distance be sure your present is not belated.

With Christmas only two weeks off, it is high time to take thought of gifts for friends at home. The almost desperation with which tens of thousands crowd the stores in the weeks before Christmas, exhausting their own patience and trying almost to the breaking point those who wait on them, is an annual phenomenon. It is a state of affairs easily remedied by each person as a committee of one. Let all resolve to do uncompleted Christmas shopping now.

It is not difficult to understand the confusion among the uninitiated as to the difference between radio and rodeo, for each has its own brand of cowboys, the one singing, the other bucking.

Our Children

CHRISTMAS GIVING

[illegible]

Giving means spending, and that's a [illegible]. All the year through we count and measure and ponder upon the necessity of spending a little and sparing much until it is quite the habit of the day. One must be thoughtful of the morrow, and for other people's morrows, too, and there is little joy in it.

Then along comes Christmas. We begin to think that Willie wants a wheel, Betsey wants a doll, granny ought to have a new chair, mother would love to have a handbag and she would be delighted with one of those lovely silver serving spoons, the children must have stockingfuls of odds and ends. Somebody must go shopping. And somebody does.

Spending money for Christmas is in itself a joy. It brings one such a carefree feeling. Being a cousin, once removed of Aladdin, is the most delightful feeling imaginable. Rub a coin and out jumps a gift. Great feeling, that. Don't stop to worry about the hole in the savings. You will soon fill it up in the three hundred and sixty-four days to come. Just go ahead and spend that Christmas money in true magician's style. You'll feel younger by years, and lighter by pounds—all of them off your heart.

Encourage the children to open their banks at Christmas time. Saving money just to have it in the bank is not good saving for children. They need to save for a definite purpose, and saving to spend at Christmas is one of the best of ideas. Go over their lists, but don't dictate them. A little foolish spending will do them no harm. They will get fun out of it, and some experience, and they will spread some happiness even by their mistakes.

Don't try to hold them to buying useful things. The older children can stand some of that, just a little, but not the little ones. They need to spend their savings blithely, in true fairy-god-mother style. A Christmas gift ought to have something of the unexpected about it, some careless, joyous gesture, something of the poetry of the day, and children, left to themselves, usually buy one in just that spirit.

It isn't a bad idea to give the children a bit of extra money at this time. That too, reflects the giving of Christmas. And, when you find the right moment, slip in a word about giving to someone from whom no return can be expected. Every child, young and old, needs to feel the true spirit of giving swell his heart and he gets it when he offers his gift without the taint of selfish hope. Giving freely is the essence of Christmas. Help the children to discover that.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of the Monroe News-Star, Postoffice Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y., enclosing a three cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

[illegible]

As [illegible] some Democratic leaders [illegible] talks with President Roosevelt [illegible] intimate that [illegible] going to be a waiting game to see who gets the last convention, the Democrats are willing to wait even to September if necessary.

Democrats' Advantage

Such an idea would be dynamite to the Republicans. They can't wait that long to get under way. At Republican headquarters we asked questions about that. They frankly stated that all the advantage of late conventions would be with the Democrats. They have a party organization much more closely knit and ready to go. That is always the case with the party in power. The party on the outside needs three or four months at least to get steam up after the convention. No headway can be made in a campaign before the candidate is known and the platform written.

You might just as well know also that Republicans smelled, or thought they smelled, something of a third term "feeler" in the proposal for conventions in September instead of in June, the customary month. They reasoned this way:

If the Democratic convention should be held in September it would be too late to heal any party split which Democrats fear and Republicans hope may emerge from the convention. Recognizing that situation, the Democrats would most likely choose Roosevelt for a third term as their best chance to win.

A second reason also was advanced. A real war in Europe likely will create public pressure for President Roosevelt to stay in office. Republican strategists recognize that factor. Since the war can't really get under way before next spring, the war alarm might not take real hold in this country until after the June convention period. On the other hand, by the time of a convention in September there would have been time for six months or more of real honest-to-goodness fighting. Accompanying that would be the demand for Roosevelt to stay in office.

Farley May Oppose It

However, it was suggested at Republican headquarters that other Democratic presidential possibilities will be wary of any third term advantages and do their best to fend them off. Postmaster General Farley, the Democratic national chairman, our Republican informant told us, likely will brook no experimentation with late convention dates. He has not expressed any views on third terms but as a practical politician he is not likely to fiddle with experiments.

HIPPOPOTAMUS TO GET FULL RATIONS

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 11 (AP) Cleo the hippopotamus lost only five pounds in 10 days of dieting so she's going back on full rations. The diet spoiled her temper, too.

"We'd rather see Cleo playing in the water and wiggling her ears at us than have her temperamental as an opera singer," said Tex Clark, Swope park zoo director.

"I didn't suppose she would take the diet so seriously. It showed me nature intended her to be fat—and fat she's going to be."

Clark started the diet for fear excessive fat would shorten Cleo's life. She's 14 and he predicted that, streamlined, she'd live to be 40 or thereabouts.

BOOSTER MEETING PLANNED WEDNESDAY

The December Booster club meeting will be held in the Missouri Pacific clubhouse, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., according to an announcement made by S. A. Moss, president. The shop employes, headed by R. O. Rogers, carman, will be in charge of the program.

The various numbers on the program will be such as are suited to Christmas. There will be a minstrel show as one part of the night's events.

All employes of the Missouri Pacific railroad are invited to attend. There will be refreshments served and the spirit of Christmas will be in evidence in many ways, state those who are in charge.

Jimmie Fidler In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11—Actors usually succeed best by playing characters entirely unlike their off-screen selves. There are, of course, exceptions to so sweeping a rule: personality-plus exponents like Clara Bow and Bing Crosby, but it undoubtedly applies to the majority of movie-greats.

He had just moved into the Payne neighborhood and, hearing that Johnny was an actor, had stowed away in the trunk to win a sight-seeing tour of a movie lot.

Shubert alley never had a formal christening. It merely came to be known by that name because no one could think of a better or more appropriate one. It is a private walk to all intent and purposes but pedestrians freely shortcut from one street to the other via it.

The Shubert limousines are parked there, and sometimes an additional car is allowed access. Katharine Hepburn's streamlined chariot, for example, has been parked there for months, because she happens to be playing at the Shubert theater in "The Philadelphia Story." Some day perhaps, the Shuberts will receive a grant from the city and make the name of Shubert Alley official.

TWO KILLED, SON OF ONE ARRESTED

PAOLI, Ind., Dec. 11 (AP) A southern Indiana hill country shooting which broke up a family quarrel brought death to a sister and brother and landed the woman's grown son in jail.

Sheriff Noble Ellis said Jewell Dailey, 21, of Paoli, had confessed killing his uncle with a .38-caliber revolver because the uncle, Harley Dailey, 48, had slain his mother, Mrs. Edna Landrus, 42, with a 410-gauge shotgun.

The shooting took place yesterday on the farm of Mrs. Josephine Dailey, 75, widowed mother of Harley Dailey and Mrs. Landrus.

Young Dailey reported, Ellis said, that his uncle had objected to his mother's staying with the elderly woman.

Mrs. Landrus, twice married and estranged from her second husband, and her son, who has adopted her maiden name, went to the farm two weeks ago.

5 CANDIDATES HURL CHARGES AT OPPONENTS

Baton Rouge, "where 200 patients are sleeping on the floor while the state's money was being squandered."

At Creole, Sam Jones promised paved roads and elimination of "deducts" in state employes' salaries to a Cameron parish audience.

"You haven't got a single mile of paved road in the whole of Cameron parish," he said. "You haven't even got a single mile of blacktop, and what few dirt roads you've got are in abominable condition. Why, my car got stuck a few miles back on your main highway and had to be pulled out by a truck, and it has not rained in some time.

"This crowd that's in power has been feeding you promises for years. I say it's time you got some action in place of broken promises."

Jones charged that the conservation department books were being hidden "because they would show you what public officials have been guilty of stealing your oil and gas and other state-owned land, put there by God Almighty for the benefit of the people."

Attacking "deducts," he said, "I am going to institute a merit system for public employes so they can't be coerced and brow-beaten and bull-dozed every time an election rolls around."

Eugene Stanley of New Orleans, candidate for attorney general, one of five other members of the Jones ticket who spoke, said, "We're going to get a square count in New Orleans. We're going to have honest commissioners and we're going to get a correct vote." He asserted Governor Long would get no more than 60,000 of a total of 140,000 votes there.

James H. Morrison told a ward rally at New Orleans that "when I'm elected governor the first thing I'm going to do is to open up the records of the department of conservation."

The Hammond candidate criticized administration of the department and asserted "a lot of heads are going to fall when these records see the light of day."

Morrison attacked those responsible for construction of Charity hospital here, saying it was to cost $6,000,000 and that the actual total was $13,500,000 with more to be spent.

"Who's got the money?" he asked. "I'll tell you. Just run down the list of those who were indicted and multiply by 20, and you've got the answer."

Morrison detailed his program to reduce automobile and truck licenses, to abolish the sales tax, to reduce gas and electric rates in New Orleans, to establish free trade schools and to pay $30 monthly old age pensions.

At Plaquemine, Vincent Moseley attacked Rival Sam Jones for extravagance and Governor Long for his record.

"You'll be heading for another fiscal breakdown if you people elect Sam Jones as your governor. Why, only recently in a radio address over state-wide hookup, he appealed for contributions with which to continue his campaign. You know full well that inside of two months he has run through the greatest campaign 'slush fund' ever given a candidate before he even announced, and now he's appealing for more money."

Moseley asserted he was financing his own independent campaign, and was accepting no contributions.

"Now about the present governor, Earl K. Long," he said. "He goes about the state telling the people that he is running on his record, and what a record that is. He says that you should elect him governor, just because he hasn't been convicted of stealing."

Moseley went to his home at Opelousas today after a six-day tour of the sugar belt and river towns.

Noe was making Shreveport his headquarters for a four-day stay in the Fourth congressional district, speaking today at Plain Dealing, Cotton Valley, Homer and Haynesville.

Jones was speaking at Elizabeth, Oakdale and Glenmora.

Governor Long and Morrison did not make public itineraries for today.

SOME ASSERT DEWEY SPEECH DISAPPOINTING

phasized the genuineness of those reactions.

One said: "I was greatly disappointed."

Another, a 45-year-old state supreme court justice: "He sounded a little immature."

A third: "A fair speech, but too full of generalities to attract much attention here."

One observant middle westerner said a part of this disappointment was due to the fact that the advance notices in the middle west had advertised a speech on the farm problem.

However fine an expression of basic campaign philosophies it may have been, a middle west expecting an attack on the farm problem was obliged to be somewhat disappointed. A man whose appetite is whetted for steak doesn't find ice cream wholly satisfactory, even if it is good ice cream.

Another thoughtful Republican said he was on the train when he heard the speech and that all of those on the car in which he was riding appeared delighted with it.

"Yet," he added, "it was the same speech that we have been hearing at Chamber of Commerce lunches and business men's clubs for the last five years. There was nothing new in it. The next morning when I read it in the newspaper it didn't read so well. A friend of mine called it juvenile."

"It was the way he delivered it. Dewey put over the speech in fine fashion."

The mixed reaction to his speech was not particularly significant. Few speeches ever get unanimous approval or disapproval. It caught the attention because it was the debut of a man who had newly avowed his candidacy.

That Dewey will be a factor in the convention, no matter which way the nomination goes, is a certainty. On the face of the situation existing now, he has in his grasp more delegates than any other man in the race. He has been assured of the support of most of the New York state delegates. Those counted for Dewey number more than the entire Ohio delegation, or that of Michigan.

From the standpoint of assured delegates, he is out in front.

Karl J. Hambro, was elected president of the league assembly. Hambro immediately warned the league it must do its utmost to halt the Finnish-Russian war.

Soviet American nations were pressing for expulsion of Russia as an aggressor, but none had much hope that Russia would withdraw her troops whatever action the league takes.

The issue put several nations on the spot. Turkey and Iran, both neighbors of Russia, wished to avoid offending Moscow, and China has received Russian assistance against the Japanese invasion.

While abstaining from participation in the league session, Russia said her troops had penetrated 35 miles into Arctic Finland and made advances on all other fronts.

A vigorous Russian protest was lodged against the British blockade aimed at cutting off German exports.

Finland's hope for outside aid was voiced by her parliament yesterday in a resolution saying that "as the outpost of western civilization" Finland has "the right to expect active help from other civilized nations" in resisting Russia.

The other European war, dormant on land fronts, brought new maritime losses to Britain.

A small naval minesweeper was sunk by a mine, a merchant vessel went down and four other ships were so long overdue that Britain said they must be considered lost.

Germany said two British tankers totaling 18,000 tons had been sunk in the English channel, but their names were not disclosed.

A British announcement said front line action had been experienced by the British expeditionary force for the first time last week while King George was touring his troops in France. Heavy German patrol activity was reported today in the sector near that taken over by British forces.

French reports told of heavy barbed-wire entanglements which recently have been completed between two lines of concrete fortifications on the western front, the Maginot line and a second defense line.

Unanimously, the Finnish parliament adopted an appeal yesterday which represented Finland "as the outpost of western civilization" and declared she has "the right to expect active help from other civilized nations."

Text of the declaration:

"The Finnish nation, whose aims always have been to live on friendly terms with all peoples and with peaceful works to build its future, has become the object of its eastern neighbor's brutal attack on Finland without giving the slightest provocation.

"We have been forced into war and we have been given no alternative."

"The Finnish nation is fighting for independence, liberty and honor. We are defending our fatherland, democracy, our homes, everything which civilized peoples hold sacred.

"For the time being we are fighting alone against an enemy invading our country. Nevertheless, our fight involves defense of a cause common to all humanity.

"We already have demonstrated we are doing our utmost in this battle, but we believe the whole civilized world, which already has shown great sympathy for our country, cannot abandon us in the face of the enemy's overwhelming numbers alone.

"As the outpost of western civilization, our nation possesses the right to expect active help from other civilized nations. To all these nations, the parliament of the Finnish nation addresses this appeal."

In another declaration, the legislators called upon Finland's people and soldiers to carry on the fight, saying, "we are one and all determined to join forces in the struggle to save our country and secure the liberty of our people."

Also approved was a measure to add 2,500,000,000 marks (about $43,000,000) to the 1939 budget to meet the crisis and empower the government to raise long-term loans.

(A $10,000,000 credit to Finland for purchase in the United States of "agricultural surpluses and other civilian supplies" was announced in Washington by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

(Despite a previous rule against export of war goods, Great Britain reported reliably to have agreed to Finnish purchases—a report which assumed special significance in view of the League of Nations assembly deliberation today on Finland's request that Russia be declared an aggressor.

(A Geneva dispatch said the British and French governments seemed inclined toward support of Finland's appeal.)

FINLAND WILL GET U. S. FARM PRODUCTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The products of American farms will become available to Finland's embattled population as the result of a $10,000,000 credit grant from the United States government.

A drawing account for Finnish purchase in the United States of "agricultural surpluses and other civilian supplies" has been established—with President Roosevelt's approval—by the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the Export-Import bank.

Jesse Jones, the federal loan administrator, said that similar credits to Norway were being considered.

Hjalmar Procope, the Finnish minister, said his government would use all the purchasing power thus made available, buying through the Finnish-American Trading corporation in New York.

The corporation, described by the RFC as "American corporation organized by the Finnish minister with paid in capital stock of $1,000,000, and guaranteed by the Bank of Finland or the Finnish government," will begin operations within a few days.

Thus, Finland benefitted a second time since Russian-Finnish hostilities began from her policy of paying regularly the installments on her "war debt" to the United States.

President Roosevelt asked the secretary of the treasury last week to place in a suspended account the $234,693 installment which Finland is expected to pay on December 15. He suggested congress might make the money available for use in a way helpful to the Finns.

As the lone European debtor to meet every payment on its American loans as it came due, Finland is exempt from the Johnson act's ban against further credits to defaulting debtors.

The December 15 payment would cut to $7,958,464 the amount Finland owes on loans made in 1919 to enable her to buy food stuffs in this country. She will have paid $5,891,291.

American supplies for Finland would move by way of Norway—if American vessels carried them—since the Baltic sea is among combat zones from which this nation's merchantmen are barred.

"Dear Good Fellows: Please tell Santa Claus to visit our house too. Papa and mama say that they will not get to see him and can't invite him to come. Papa is a Good Fellow, too. He is a preacher, but he hasn't had any work for almost a year and a half. He is now working at common labor but it takes all he can make to pay on our debts and for us to have a very common living. I am 13 years old, the baby of five brothers and one sister. My oldest brother is trying to work his way through school. My next brother is in Ouachita Parish High school and the next younger is going to school in south Louisiana. He is preparing for the ministry and is working his way through college.

"Thanking you in advance for sending Santa Claus this way."

A letter like this rings sincere. The various members of the family are evidently striving to the utmost to secure an education and to make something of themselves in the world. It would seem that cases like this are such as should receive public attention and financial aid.

A mother writes an appeal:

"I have three children. I would like for Santa Claus to remember. One little girl is six and one is nine and there is a little boy of 13 who would appreciate some toys and clothes. My husband hasn't worked regularly for some time, so please do all you can for them. They are very much in need of school clothes."

And another mother writes: "I have a little boy three and one-half years old and I would like for old Santa Claus to remember him with some clothes and toys as his father isn't making much and it takes all to live, so please do all you can for us."

EARLY LINOTYPER DIES

HASTINGS-ON-HUDSON, N. Y., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Timothy J. Sullivan, 71, who aided Ottmer Mergenthaler in perfecting the linotype, died yesterday of heart disease. Sullivan, a native of Ireland, had been employed by the Wall Street Journal the past 48 years as supervisor of linotype operations.

OPPOSITION TO U. S. CONTROL OF OIL HEARD

stricts its course until competition, the backbone of business, is pushed into the background, thereby foreshadowing monopolistic operations."

The Cole bill, recommended by President Roosevelt as a conservation measure, would create a new division in the interior department to set up standards by which "avoidable waste" in oil and gas production would be judged. Punitive powers would be given the federal government.

Representative Cole, who arrived yesterday with Representatives Mapes, Republican, Michigan, and Kelly, Democrat, Illinois, after a two-day hearing in Illinois, said on arrival that the measure does not strictly mean federal regulation. The government would "set up a formula," he said, with regulation of the industry left to the states with the federal government acting in a "cooperative" capacity.

Both Sadler and Thompson contended that it was the right of the individual states to regulate oil production, and that they had been successful in doing so.

Thompson, remarking on support of the measure by the army and navy departments, said, "It is not proper for the government to hold oil development back just because it might some day want the oil."

makes it a felony for a superior to attempt to influence an employe's vote.

The law already has resulted in the resignation from party positions of federal office-holders, Hatch said, and in one instance it caused a United States marshal to resign his post in order to retain his position as a party official.

Hatch said preliminary studies made by the justice department about the constitutionality of his new proposal indicated that congress may have greater powers than heretofore supposed over elections in which senators and congressmen are chosen.

In the Newberry case, 15 years ago, the supreme court ruled that primary elections were state affairs, over which the senate had no policing power.

"I would like to see that question tested in the supreme court again," Hatch said. "I believe there are constitutional grounds for congress to make regulations affecting primaries in which candidates for federal office are chosen."

$1,248,991 FOR CLEVELAND OKAYED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt approved today expenditure of $1,248,991 for three WPA projects in the Cleveland area.

John Carmody, federal works administrator, advised the president that these projects, with those previously authorized, would provide employment for six months for more than 14,000 persons in the Cleveland region and should relieve "the acute situation that has developed."

The projects will provide jobs for employable, needy individuals, the White House said. They are in line with the administration's policy, reaffirmed by the president last week, of caring for employables and delegating to the states the responsibility for providing relief for needy persons who are unable to work.

At a press conference Friday, the president said Ohio had not lived up to its obligations to take care of needy unemployable workers. His remarks started a controversy with Governor Bricker of Ohio, who said the president had made a political attack on a Republican administration.

TWO MORE CALLED IN POISON TRIALS

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The commonwealth, with its box score showing 18 convictions or guilty pleas and two acquittals thus far, called two more defendants, one a woman, in Philadelphia's mass murder for insurance cases to trial today.

Mrs. Marie Woloshyn goes on trial charged with the death of her husband, John, 54, in January, 1936. Police say members of the insurance murder ring felled Woloshyn with an iron pipe, then ran an automobile over his body several times and left it on a suburban road, the apparent victim of a hit-run driver.

Joseph Swartz, a warehouse operator, is charged with the murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lena Winkelman, in 1936. The commonwealth contends he placed poison in medicine given her by a physician.

Trial of David Brandt, third of the six defendants still to be tried, has been scheduled tomorrow. Brandt has been accused as a go-between in delivering poison for the ring.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL
Those Who Know Us Best
Our aims in the conduct of the Illinois Central System have been stated in detail in this series of messages during the past year.
To sum them up here, they are to produce adequate, dependable, pleasant, progressive transportation; to sell it at fair, remunerative, business-stimulating prices; to assure employes proper wages and working conditions and good tools to do good work; to meet our financial obligations with an eye to future needs.
By living up to these aims we hope to deserve the confidence and good will of our friends and neighbors — those who know us best.
That is our pattern for the conduct of our railroad. We realize that deeds count more than words, and we expect to do our best.

VANDY OUT-GAINS, LOSES FOUR TIMES

ATLANTA, Dec. 11—(AP)—Vanderbilt's Commodores were the Southeastern conference's "first-down champions" in losing games this year.

Four times they lost—to Tennessee, Mississippi, Georgia Tech and V. M. I.—although outgaining them in 10-yard advances. Twelve other games were dropped by conference teams which were on the big end of the first down figures. They included both of Georgia Tech's only losses—to Notre Dame and Duke—and also two each by Alabama and Georgia.

Southeastern elevens, including Tennessee's unbeaten-untied-unscored-on Vols, won 13 games in which they trailed in first downs. Tennessee did it twice—against Vanderbilt and Kentucky—as did Tulane, Sewanee, Mississippi and Kentucky.

Team Unit System Brings Victories For Tennessee

First Squad Wears Foes Down And Second Displays Punch

By Kenneth Gregory

ATLANTA [illegible]

[illegible] the Orange Bowl [illegible]

Tennessee [illegible] Oklahoma's [illegible] in the Orange Bowl, and shellacked the Sooners 17 to 0.

Most observers agree Tennessee's current array of football talent is lacking the power and precision of the 1938 crew. A major share of the glory for this season's success has been awarded the Volunteers' second team, which has shown decidedly far more fight and punch.

Tennessee employs the team unit system. One of the Volunteer coaches, who wished not to be quoted, said the first team deserved just as much credit. The first-stringers go in and do a lot toward wearing down the opposition by hard play, sticking closely to defense.

Then the major shoots in the second team, which usually reeks with get-up-and-do. Keyed and ambitious to outdo the veterans, the second team goes to town offensively, and, yet, if the opposition starts clicking the regulars are rushed back into the breach.

That's the way it was Saturday when Tennessee clinched the Rose Bowl assignment by conquering a tough Auburn team, 7 to 0. The regulars started, battled Auburn gamely, and then came the second team at the start of the second period. That second team went 65 yards in four plays for the pay-off touchdown.

A sophomore provided the lone scoring. With the ball at Tennessee's 35 after an exchange of kicks, Sophomore Johnny Butler, the flash of the No. 2 eleven, sped eight yards. Joe Wallen got four and Bob Andridge raced 13 on a beautiful reverse up to Auburn's 40.

Butler, whose great run against Alabama early in the season is still talked about, faded back as if to pass, saw an opening when the Tigers' defense moved over to the wrong side and ran with the leather, spinning, squirming and following good interference on across the goal.

Tennessee, playing without its ace field general, George Cafego, who limped out on a bad knee shortly after the game started, made two other distinct threats, but didn't cash in. With the exception of Andridge's reverses, the Volunteers played straight football to win.

So now, it's all over until New Year's day. Georgia's Bulldogs helped ring down the curtain on a highly successful Southeastern conference season by defeating Miami university Friday night in a game at Miami, the score 13 to 0.

For the fifth time in 11 years these stalwart football representatives of a town of 40,000 have smashed their way to a national pro football championship over the best the nation could offer.

They started winning titles back in 1929. They took two more in a row after that. In 1936 they won again. They had great ball clubs in those years, but never did they reach the peak they attained here yesterday when they beat the New York Giants 27 to 0 for the 1939 National Football [illegible]

2 COACHES TO BE TOGETHER AGAIN AT TECH

'Aillet Announces Selection Of Cecil Crowley As Line Mentor

RUSTON, La., Dec. 11—(Special)—Two men associated in the coaching business for five years at Haynesville High school and separated the last four years will get together again at Louisiana Tech.

That describes the appointment of Cecil Crowley, Centenary college graduate, as Tech's football line coach and basketball mentor, whose acceptance of the post was announced in a telephone call to Ruston from Natchitoches Sunday by Joe Aillet, Tech's new athletic director and head coach.

During the past year, Crowley has coached the line at the Male High school at Louisville, Ky.

Graduating from Centenary in 1931, Crowley that fall began a five-year assistantship at Haynesville under Coach Aillet. The following three years, Crowley was head coach at Haynesville, prior to taking the Louisville [illegible]. In 1936, as head mentor at Haynesville, Crowley won the state high school championship with the Golden Tornado eleven and was runner-up [illegible] 1938.

end zone. Tiny Engebretsen place-kicked the extra point.

The Giants had the wind in the second period but the Packers checked all of their thrusts. The closest the New Yorkers got was the 35. Ward Cuff then dropped back to try a place kick from the 41. It was far enough, but wide of the posts. After that the Giants didn't threaten until in the closing minutes of the game when the Packers had a team of reserves in the game.

Green Bay resumed its drive soon after the start of the third quarter when Cecil Isbell, Andy Uram and Clarke Hinkle started ripping the Giants' line to pieces. They marched 40 yards on six plays. When the Giant line stiffened on its own 22, Engebretsen dropped back to the 29 and booted one home from placement to give the Bays a 10 to 0 edge.

Later in the same period Gantenbein intercepted a Giant pass on the New York 35. From the 31 Isbell passed to Joe Laws for a touchdown. Engebretsen's toe added the other point.

A place kick by Ernie Smith, Packer reserve tackle, from the 42, in the final quarter added three points to the score. The final marker came shortly thereafter following a pass interception by the Green Bay center, on the Giant 30. He ran it back to the 15. An end-around play by Harry Jacunski moved it to the one-yard mark and Eddie Jankowski rammed it home. Smith converted.

A crowd of 32,279 paid a record gross of $83,510 to see the battle. Members of the winning team drew $703 for their day's efforts. The Giants each got $455.

HIGHEST COURT RULES AGAINST WIRE-TAPPING

ment was ordered by the circuit court after Art Metal Works Inc. of New York contended there was testimony during the Manton trial that he had received bribes from the Evans Case company of North Attleboro Mass. to influence his decision.

The Manton court held that a lighter manufactured by the Evans Case company did not infringe on Art Metal patent. Manton wrote the decision.

In the Madison oil litigation the supreme court's evenly-divided vote was due to the death of Justice Pierce Butler. The vacancy is not expected to be filled until congress convenes next month.

In asking for a rehearing, Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson contended that the affirmance by an evenly-divided court, without a written opinion, "leaves this question in the highest degree of uncertainty."

The 11 defendants were among others charged with conspiracy to fix the price of gasoline in 10 mid-western states.

VETERAN AVIATOR PLEASED BY PLANE

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Martin Jensen, veteran aviator, was all smiles today as the result of the performance of a new plane of his own design in a test flight.

Some 500 spectators, gathered at the James island airport near here, watched Jensen and the engineer of the plane, John F. Nycum, take the craft aloft yesterday in its first trial.

Jensen said the streamlined, low-wing monoplane's cruising speed, using a trial propeller, was established at 110 M. P. H. and its landing speed at about 40 M. P. H.

"It exceeded all our expectations," Jensen said.

The plane, a full cantilever, has all struts and braces inside the wings. It has a plywood overall covering and is equipped with a new 60 horsepower motor. Jensen claimed the plane was about 25 M. P. H. faster than other planes of its class and horsepower.

SIX MEN WOUNDED IN KENTUCKY FEUD

PINEVILLE, Ky., Dec. 11—(AP)—A long-standing grudge between two families, brought to a head by the killing of a hog, flared up in a ten-minute gun battle yesterday that left six men wounded.

With pistols and shotguns, Sheriff Martin Green said, two groups of men fired more than 25 shots at each other around the railroad depot at nearby Dorton Branch, a southeastern Kentucky coal mining town.

The sheriff said he jailed without charges three of the wounded, Charles Helton, 26; Arthur Williams, 26, and the latter's cousin, Luther Williams, 24. Mitchell Helton, 30, brother of Charles, was brought to a Pineville hospital with serious wounds in the side and arm but was expected to recover.

Carl Williams, 45, brother of Arthur, and Ault Bradley, 21, whom Sheriff Green described as bystanders who sought to end the shooting, were wounded slightly.

The grudge between the Williams and Helton families, Green said, arose from a lawsuit over a house.

LABOR BOARD CLASHES SEEN

[illegible]

More recently committee aides seized complete files at the board offices and later sorted out correspondence which appeared to contain what one described as questionable practices.

The committee headed by Representative Smith, Democrat, Virginia, long a critic of the Wagner act, was reported to be trying to head off haphazard amendments to the act when congress meets next month. It wants to withhold debate until its report is completed and can be used as a basis for discussion.

Well-informed sources said, however, some of the committeemen had learned that revisions would be pressed by others early in the session in an attempt to offset the committee's own inquiry and conclusions of senate and house labor committees which have not finished hearings on the law.

They contended that the amendments would be designed to relieve pressure for modification of collective bargaining procedure and permit both political parties to go into the campaign year with less emphasis on the labor board controversy.

REHEARING FOR CLEMENTS DENIED

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 11—(AP)—The Orleans parish court of appeals today denied the application of Conservation Commissioner Ernest S. Clements for a rehearing of its decision his department's books should be opened for inspection.

The court recently reversed the ruling of Judge Harold A. Moise, who had held that the books were not available for inspection while they were being audited by Frank S. Shattuck, supervisor of public funds.

The commissioner will have 30 days in which to apply to the supreme court for writs.

The suit was brought by the Citizens Voluntary committee but the department's refusal to open the books to public examination has been the subject of widespread newspaper criticism and attack by gubernatorial candidates campaigning against Governor Earl K. Long.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of thanking [illegible] the Dixie Funeral Home for the many [illegible] of kindness and sympathy shown [illegible] during the death of our father, Jeremiah B. Hendrix, Sr.

THE HENDRIX FAMI

CARD OF THANKS

We want to take this method of expressing our thanks to our many friends [illegible] for the lovely floral designs [illegible] and words of sympathy [illegible] during the [illegible] death of our husband, father [illegible] brother, W. F. Stovall.

We are especially grateful to Rev. [illegible] Smith and the Dixie Funeral Home for their many acts of kindness.

THE STOVALL FAMI

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and expressions of sympathy shown us during the illness and death of our twin babies, Annie Clotice and Anne Cletore Ti[illegible].

We are especially grateful to Rev. [illegible] for his kindness and sympathy shown us by his constant calling on our babies at all hours of the night.

We also want to extend our everlasting gratitude to the Dixie Funeral Home for their splendid service and kindness which greatly lightened our burden in our hour of bereavement.

RAIN CHASES GNATS

AZUSA, Calif., Dec. 11.—(AP)—It rained today and all Azusa was glad. Clouds of gnats, at which residents had been swatting the past week, vanished. D. W. Sturges, high school biology professor, said the insects, fooled by spring-like weather, had emerged from their incubation stage at least five months ahead of schedule.

MISSISSIPPI YOUTH KILLED IN ACCIDENT

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Dec. 11.—(AP)—An automobile overturned on highway 79 [illegible] yesterday, fatally injuring Cal Carter, 20, Van Vleet, Miss.

Mr. Carter's father, J. O. Carter, 54, also of Van Vleet, was in a critical condition at a Pine Bluff hospital with a spinal injury. Two other members of the family were hurt slightly in the crash. The four had been in Pine Bluff for a visit with relatives.

It was Hit or Miss in Grandfather's Day

When your grandfather needed tobacco he probably went to the tobacconist in his community and had a lot of fun blending different types of tobacco together and trying out the different mixtures.

HE MAY HAVE FINALLY HIT on a combination of tobaccos that was pretty much to his fancy ; ; ; that tasted all right to him and wasn't too strong. So the tobacconist, with an eye to future business, would make up this private blend and keep some of it on hand for him.

THIS HIT OR MISS METHOD of tobacco blending was never very satisfactory. But it proved one thing to both smokers and manufacturers, that you must have a blend of tobaccos to get better smoking results, because no one tobacco by itself has all the qualities necessary to a good smoke.

THE CHESTERFIELD tobacco buyers select and bid in at the auction sales the tobacco types that best fit the Chesterfield blend, which is the right combination of exactly the right amounts of Maryland, Burley and Bright with just enough Turkish. These tobaccos and the Chesterfield way of blending them make Chesterfield different from any other cigarette.

THAT IS WHY there are millions of enthusiastic Chesterfield smokers clear across the country. They find Chesterfield COOLER, BETTER-TASTING and DEFINITELY MILDER . . . just what they want for real smoking pleasure. You can't buy a better cigarette.
